Case Summary

On September 10, 2022, § 87(2)(b) filed the following complaint on behalf of herself and her cousin, § 87(2)(b) via the CCRB Call Processing System.

On September 6, at approximately 7:43pm, Police Officer Ihor Zaverukha and Police Officer Sean Barry, both of 67th Precinct, arrived at § 87(2)(b) to respond to a 911 call in which § 87(2)(b) stated he had been locked out of the apartment he shared with § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha and PO Barry arrived and met § 87(2)(b) and his unidentified friend. § 87(2)(b) stated that § 87(2)(b) had changed the lock on § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha and PO Barry allegedly told the superintendent of the building, § 87(2)(b) that he would be arrested if he did not open the door (Allegations A and B: Abuse of Authority—Threat of Arrest, Unfounded). PO Zaverukha and PO Barry advised § 87(2)(b) to call a locksmith.

That same day, at approximately 8:29pm, PO Zaverukha and PO Barry returned to § 87(2)(b). § 87(2)(b) had hired a locksmith to open the door to § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha and PO Barry followed § 87(2)(b) into the apartment (Allegations C and D: Abuse of Authority—Entry of Premises, Within NYPD Guidelines). PO Barry knocked on a closed door within the apartment and then opened it, discovering § 87(2)(b) inside his room (Allegation E: Abuse of Authority—Search of Premises, Substantiated). After § 87(2)(b) stepped out of his room, PO Zaverukha told him that he could be arrested (Allegation F: Abuse of Authority—Threat of Arrest, Substantiated). PO Barry never provided a business card to § 87(2)(b) (Allegation G: Abuse of Authority—Failure to provide RTKA card, Substantiated).

The investigation obtained body-worn camera from PO Zaverukha and PO Barry, as well as unrelated BWC from Police Officer Eric Stoll and Police Officer Blaise Christoforatos, both of the 67th Precinct (BR 01-12), the relevant portions of which will be discussed below.

No arrests or summonses resulted from this incident.

Findings and Recommendations

Allegation (A) Abuse of Authority: On September 6, 2022, at approximately 7:43pm, Police Officer Ihor Zaverukha threatened to arrest § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (B) Abuse of Authority: On September 6, 2022, at approximately 7:43pm, Police Officer Sean Barry threatened to arrest § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 13) that she changed the locks to her apartment on September 3, 2022. She was not present for this incident on September 6, 2022.

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 14) that PO Zaverukha and PO Barry approached either in front of the building or in the lobby of the building. PO Barry asked § 87(2)(b) if he could let them into § 87(2)(b). § 87(2)(b) told PO Barry and PO Zaverukha that he did not have the key to § 87(2)(b). PO Barry told § 87(2)(b) that he would be arrested if he did not help them let § 87(2)(b) into the apartment.

§ 87(2)(b) made no reference to § 87(2)(b) being present during this incident (BR 15).

The investigation was unable to obtain a statement from § 87(2)(b).

PO Zaverukha stated (BR 16) that he had no recollection of ever speaking with § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha also did not recall ever witnessing PO Barry interact with § 87(2)(b) nor did he recall PO Barry mentioning to PO Zaverukha that he spoke with the superintendent of the building.

PO Barry stated (BR 17) that § 87(2)(b) gave PO Barry § 87(2)(b) phone number and PO Barry attempted to call him, but § 87(2)(b) phone was turned off, so he never spoke with him. PO Barry never saw § 87(2)(b) never spoke to § 87(2)(b) and thus, never threatened to arrest § 87(2)(b). He also never witnessed PO Zaverukha threaten to arrest § 87(2)(b).

Both sections of PO Zaverukha and PO Barry's comprehensive and consistent BWC (BR 01-08) show that neither PO Zaverukha, nor PO Barry, had any interaction with § 87(2)(b) in front or in the lobby of § 87(2)(b).

It is undisputed that § 87(2)(b) was not present during this incident. § 87(2)(g)
§ 87(2)(b) comprehensive BWC from PO Zaverukha and PO Barry indicate that no officer made any threats to arrest § 87(2)(b) § 87(2)(g).
It is recommended that Allegations A and B be Unfounded.

Allegation (C) Abuse of Authority: On September 6, 2022, at approximately 8:29pm, Police Officer Ihor Zaverukha entered § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (D) Abuse of Authority: On September 6, 2022, at approximately 8:29pm, Police Officer Sean Barry entered § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 15) that PO Zaverukha and PO Barry asked § 87(2)(b) to provide proof that he lived in the apartment. He showed PO Zaverukha and PO Barry two letters he had that were addressed to him at this apartment. One of these letters was a bank statement. He told the investigation that he did not have a driver's license or any other photographic identification that indicated he lived there at the time of the incident. § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) paid a locksmith $300 to open the door to § 87(2)(b). Once the door was opened, § 87(2)(b) was the first to enter, followed by PO Zaverukha and PO Barry, who asked § 87(2)(b) to provide further proof that he lived in the apartment. § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) showed PO Zaverukha and PO Barry his bedroom.

§ 87(2)(b) was not present during this incident (BR 13).

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 14) that at some point that night, § 87(2)(b) called a locksmith and had the locks to § 87(2)(b) changed. He did not see whether PO Zaverukha or PO Barry went into the apartment.

The investigation was unable to obtain a statement from § 87(2)(b).

PO Zaverukha stated (BR 16) that he and PO Barry responded to § 87(2)(b) after receiving a 911 job about an illegal eviction. PO Zaverukha and PO Barry met § 87(2)(b) and his friend, who sometimes acted as an interpreter for § 87(2)(b) in the lobby of the building. § 87(2)(b) told the officers that he had rented a room in § 87(2)(b) but the landlord changed the locks so he could not get inside. He showed the officers his New York State ID which showed that his address was § 87(2)(b) § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha and PO Barry advised § 87(2)(b) to call a locksmith. The locksmith came and drilled into the lock, opening the door, and then PO Zaverukha, PO Barry, § 87(2)(b) and his friend, all entered the apartment. PO Zaverukha asked § 87(2)(b) to show him additional proof that he lived in the apartment, and § 87(2)(b) showed him mail addressed to § 87(2)(b) at § 87(2)(b) (b).

PO Barry stated (BR 17) that he and PO Zaverukha responded to a 911 call indicating that someone was locked out of their apartment at § 87(2)(b) where they met with § 87(2)(b) and his friend. § 87(2)(b) showed PO Barry a picture of his room and said that he lived in § 87(2)(b). PO Barry and PO Zaverukha advised him to call a locksmith. When the locksmith arrived, § 87(2)(b) showed the locksmith a New York State ID. The locksmith passed it to PO Zaverukha, who passed it to PO Barry. PO Barry could not recall any details about § 87(2)(b) ID. The locksmith opened the door to § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha told § 87(2)(b) "Show me where you live," and § 87(2)(b) entered the apartment, followed by PO Zaverukha and then by PO Barry. PO Barry followed PO Zaverukha into the apartment because he could not allow PO Zaverukha to go anywhere alone for safety purposes, to investigate if the landlord or another tenant was in the apartment who might have changed the locks on § 87(2)(b) and to verify that § 87(2)(b) did live in the apartment. § 87(2)(b) showed PO Zaverukha and PO Barry his room, which was the same room in the picture he had shown PO Barry earlier. PO Zaverukha asked § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) to show him any mail or additional proof that he lived in the apartment, and § 87(2)(b) showed PO Zaverukha some documentation.

In PO Barry's second BWC (BR 07-08) at the 2:29 timestamp, the locksmith hands a New York State ID to PO Zaverukha, who looks at it and then hands it to PO Barry. The information on the ID is not visible. At the 5:50, timestamp, the locksmith has finished drilling into the lock. PO Zaverukha walks up to the door and opens it. He tells § 87(2)(b) "Come on sir, where you live? Show me where you live." § 87(2)(b) walks into the apartment followed closely behind by PO Zaverukha and PO Barry. At 6:33, PO Zaverukha asks, "You have any mail to show like you live here? Show me the mail." PO Barry says, "He showed me a picture earlier of his room and it's the same exact thing." PO Zaverukha tells § 87(2)(b) that he no longer needs to see his mail. PO Zaverukha's BWC footage is generally consistent with PO Barry's footage (BR 05-06).

§ 87(2)(b) called 911 five times over the course of the evening (BR 18-19). In the first four 911 calls, § 87(2)(b) tells the operator that he has been locked out of his apartment by his landlord and is attempting to get access to the apartment. In the fifth 911 call, § 87(2)(b) tells the 911 operator that police advised him to call a locksmith to facilitate his entry into the apartment, and now that the locksmith has arrived, he would like the police to return.

It is undisputed that § 87(2)(b) called 911 to report that he had been locked out of his apartment by his landlord. After the locksmith arrived, § 87(2)(b) called 911 again to request that police return. It is undisputed that § 87(2)(b) showed the locksmith his New York ID and that the locksmith opened the locked door to § 87(2)(b) § 87(2)(b) § 87(2)(b) PO Zaverukha, and PO Barry all stated, and BWC showed, that PO Zaverukha and PO Barry followed § 87(2)(b) into the apartment after the door was opened and that PO Zaverukha asked § 87(2)(b) to show him his room. PO Zaverukha stated that he entered the apartment so that § 87(2)(b) could show him additional proof that he legally resided in the apartment. PO Barry stated that he entered the apartment for safety purposes, as well as to confirm that § 87(2)(b) lived where he had previously claimed, and to investigate who locked him out of the apartment.

Per People v. Cosme 48 N.Y.2d 286 (1979) (BR 20), the police may lawfully enter a premises on the voluntary consent of a party who possesses the requisite degree of authority and control over the premises or personal property in question. Where two or more individuals share a common right of access to the premises, any one of them has the authority to consent in the absence of the others.

Per People v. Satornino, 153 A.D.2d 595 (1989) (BR 21), officers may make a warrantless entry into a home if the homeowner consents by words and/or conduct to the officers entering the home.

§ 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(g)

it is recommended that Allegations C and D be closed as Within NYPD Guidelines.

Allegation (E) Abuse of Authority: On September 6, 2022, at approximately 8:29pm, Police Officer Sean Barry searched § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 15) that he showed PO Zaverukha and PO Barry his bedroom. Afterwards, § 87(2)(b) who turned out to be home at the time, spoke to PO Zaverukha and PO Barry, however, he did not specify whether the officers opened his closed door.

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 13) that she was not present for this incident.

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 14) that he was not present for this portion of the incident.

§ 87(2)(b) did not provide a statement to the investigation.

PO Zaverukha stated (BR 16) that he called out into the apartment, but nobody answered. PO Zaverukha and PO Barry knocked on more than two closed doors throughout the apartment and opened them because they were not locked.

PO Barry stated (BR 17) that he walked into the open kitchen and looked behind the refrigerator and he used his flashlight to look through a door that was left ajar leading into the bedroom next to § 87(2)(b) room. § 87(2)(b) gestured at a closed door further down the hall. PO Barry interpreted this gesture to mean that someone was inside the room. PO Barry knocked on the closed door and then opened it and saw § 87(2)(b) putting in his hearing aids. PO Barry did not step into the room but waited for § 87(2)(b) to exit. PO Barry looked through the apartment and opened this door because he wanted to see if anyone else, such as the landlord or another tenant, was in the apartment. PO Barry was investigating who had changed the locks on § 87(2)(b) so that he could explain to them that if they changed the locks to the apartment, then they must give a new key to § 87(2)(b) as he also lived in the apartment.

In PO Barry's second BWC (BR 07-08) at the 6:40 timestamp, PO Zaverukha asks, "Where does the lady live?" He walks to the room next to § 87(2)(b) bedroom and knocks on the door, which is ajar. PO Zaverukha calls out, "Hello, is anyone there," and then opens the door fully. He steps halfway into the door frame and realizes nobody is in the room and then steps out of the room. At the 7:45 timestamp, PO Zaverukha asks where the lady lives and § 87(2)(b) points to a closed door, that has a key in its lock, just outside the communal living space. PO Zaverukha knocks on the door and says, "Hello. Police." PO Barry turns the knob, opening the door. Both officers stand at the door frame and PO Zaverukha tells § 87(2)(b) "Just open the door and come to us, please." PO Zaverukha's BWC footage is generally consistent with PO Barry's footage (BR 05-06).

It is undisputed that after PO Zaverukha and PO Barry entered § 87(2)(b) § 87(2)(b) they both looked into common areas in search of the landlord. Consistent and comprehensive BWC shows that PO Barry walks up to a closed door that has a key in the doorknob's keyhole and knocked on the door. When nobody answers, PO Barry opens the door. PO Barry stated that he opened this door believing that the landlord could be inside.

Per People v. Cosme 48 N.Y.2d 286 (1979) (BR 20), the police may lawfully enter a premises on the voluntary consent of a party who possesses the requisite degree of authority and control over the premises or personal property in question. Where two or more individuals share a common right of access to the premises, any one of them has the authority to consent in the absence of the others.

Per People v. Adams, 53 NY2d 1 (1981) (BR 22), the police cannot act merely upon the bald assertion that the consenting party possess the requisite authority over the premises, and must proceed only after making some inquiry into the actual state of authority when faced with a situation which would cause a reasonable person to question the consenting party's power or control over the premises or property.

Per People v. Rodriguez, 77 A.D.3d 280 (2010) (BR 37), police officers may also enter a private dwelling without a warrant if they reasonably believe that there is an emergency at hand, that their immediate assistance is needed to protect life or property, and that they have a reasonable basis to associate the emergency with the location.

Per People v. McBride 14 N.Y.3d 440 (2010) (BR 36), the court ruled that to determine whether exigency exists, a court must determine "whether in light of all the facts of the particular case there was an urgent need that justifies a warrantless entry." The court considered factors including (1) the gravity or violent nature of the offense with which the suspect is to be charged, (2) whether the suspect is reasonably believed to be armed, (3) a clear showing of probable cause to believe that the suspect committed the crime, (4) strong reason to believe that the suspect is in the premises being entered, (5) a likelihood that the suspect will escape if not swiftly apprehended, and (6) the peaceful circumstances of the entry.

§ 87(2)(g)

it is recommended that Allegation E be Substantiated.

Allegation (F) On September 6, 2022, at approximately 8:29pm, Abuse of Authority: Police Officer Ihor Zaverukha threatened to arrest § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 15) that PO Zaverukha and PO Barry spoke to § 87(2)(b) who was also in the apartment at the time. § 87(2)(b) confirmed that § 87(2)(b) lived in the apartment. He further stated that neither PO Zaverukha nor PO Barry threatened to arrest § 87(2)(b).

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 13) that she was not present for this incident.

§ 87(2)(b) stated (BR 14) that he was not present for this portion of the incident.

The investigation was unable to obtain a statement from § 87(2)(b).

PO Zaverukha stated (BR 16) that § 87(2)(b) stepped out of his room and into the small communal dinette, and it became apparent that § 87(2)(b) used hearing aids. PO Zaverukha asked § 87(2)(b) why he did not open the door for § 87(2)(b) or for the police, and § 87(2)(b) told him that he did not hear them knocking. After the locksmith finished installing the new lock, PO Zaverukha handed § 87(2)(b) his new key. PO Zaverukha told § 87(2)(b) that this was his new key and that he should not change the locks again, or he would be arrested. PO Zaverukha explained that § 87(2)(b) could have been arrested because he might have been the one to have changed the lock, illegally evicting § 87(2)(b). PO Zaverukha had no reason to believe that § 87(2)(b) changed the lock on § 87(2)(b) with the exception that he was present at the time of this incident. PO Zaverukha also could have arrested § 87(2)(b) as a suspect if he had decided to continue an investigation into the illegal eviction. PO Zaverukha could have arrested § 87(2)(b) for not answering the door when § 87(2)(b) and PO Zaverukha knocked on the front door.

PO Barry stated (BR 17) that § 87(2)(b) came out of his room and PO Barry and PO Zaverukha told § 87(2)(b) that § 87(2)(b) could not get into the apartment. PO Barry could not recall the exact words that were exchanged, however, the officers told § 87(2)(b) that the locks were changed, and § 87(2)(b) needed to have access to the apartment because he lived there. § 87(2)(b) told PO Barry and PO Zaverukha that he did not know anything about the locks being changed. § 87(2)(b) explained that his cousin was the landlord. § 87(2)(b) added that he did not live in the apartment.

In PO Barry's second BWC (BR 07-08) at the 8:37 timestamp, PO Barry asks § 87(2)(b) "Did you change the locks?" § 87(2)(b) responded, "I don't know anything about that...I'm not the owner of the apartment" He goes on to indicate his cousin owns the apartment, but she is not there at the moment. At the 13:00 timestamp, § 87(2)(b) asks the locksmith what he should do with his old key for the apartment. PO Zaverukha tells § 87(2)(b) to throw the key in the garbage. § 87(2)(b) says he needs a "court order" or a "report" before he gets rid of the old key. PO Zaverukha says, "You want a report? I can arrest you sir. I don't have to give you a report, do you understand?" PO Zaverukha's BWC was generally consistent with PO Barry's BWC (BR 05-06).

Patrol Guide procedure 208-01 (BR 23) outlines when an officer may make an arrest, including (1) with a warrant, and (2) for an offense committed in an officer's presence, (3) for a crime (within presence or not) and reasonable cause exists that they committed the crime, and (4) for a petty offense in his presence (violations and traffic infractions).

Administrative Code 26-521 (BR 34) states that it shall be unlawful for any person to evict or attempt to evict an occupant of a dwelling who has lawfully occupied the dwelling unit for 30 consecutive days or longer by engaging or threatening to engage in any conduct which prevents or is intended to prevent such occupant from the lawful occupancy of such dwelling unit or to induce the occupant to vacate the dwelling unit including, but not limited to, removing the occupant's possessions from the dwelling unit, removing the door at the entrance to the dwelling unit; removing, plugging or otherwise rendering the lock on such entrance door inoperable; or changing the lock on such entrance door without supplying the occupant with a key.

Patrol Guide procedure 214-12 (BR 35) instructs police officers, in cases regarding illegal evictions, to prepare a summons when the violator is properly identified, and the occupant is permitted to reenter the dwelling and to effect an arrest when the violator cannot be properly identified or refuses to permit the occupant to reenter or who through physical obstruction prevents the occupant from reentering.

§ 87(2)(g)

Furthermore, it is undisputed that once § 87(2)(b) regained access to the apartment, § 87(2)(b) made no attempt to obstruct him from re-entering. § 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(b) it is recommended that Allegation F be Substantiated.

Allegation (G) Abuse of Authority: On September 6, 2022, at approximately 8:29pm, Police Officer Sean Barry failed to provide § 87(2)(b) with a business card.

PO Barry stated (BR 17) that he never gave § 87(2)(b) a business card and § 87(2)(b) never asked for a business card. He stated that he observed § 87(2)(b) ask PO Zaverukha for his name and shield number, and that PO Zaverukha wrote them down for him.

The investigation was unable to obtain a statement from § 87(2)(b)

In PO Barry's second BWC (BR 07-08), at the 8:25 timestamp PO Barry asks § 87(2)(b) if he lives in the apartment, whether he changed the locks in the apartment, and who else lives in the apartment. Per the entirety of the BWC footage, neither PO Barry, nor PO Zaverukha, provided business cards to § 87(2)(b) throughout the duration of the incident. PO Zaverukha's second BWC is generally consistent with PO Barry's BWC (BR 05-06).

NYPD Administrative Guide 304-11 states (BR 24) that officers are required to offer pre-printed right to know business card upon the conclusion of law enforcement activities, including noncustodial questioning of individuals suspected of criminal activity. Officers must offer a generic right to know business card with their information written down if their pre-printed cards become depleted.

New York City Administrative Code 14-174 states (BR 25) that officers must offer a business card to any individual with which they conduct a law enforcement activity, including noncustodial questioning, meaning, "the questioning of an individual where such individual has not been detained and is free to end the encounter at will."

It is undisputed that upon encountering § 87(2)(b) in the apartment, PO Barry asked him questions without detaining him. § 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(b) it is recommended that Allegation G be Substantiated.
