Case Summary

§ 87(2)(b) filed this complaint with IAB on July 16, 2020 on behalf of the victim, § 87(2)(b). It was received by the CCRB on July 29, 2020 via IAB log § 87(2)(b).

On July 16, 2020, § 87(2)(b) was inside § 87(2)(b) in Staten Island when Detectives Edgardo Diaz, Genaro Barreiro, and Carlos Corporan, all from the Staten Island Warrant Squad, entered the apartment (Allegations A, B, C: Abuse of Authority- Entry of Premises, § 87(2)(g)). The Detectives pointed their guns toward § 87(2)(b) (Allegations D, E, F: Force-Gun Pointed, § 87(2)(g)). One officer allegedly said to § 87(2)(b) “Get on the fucking floor,” while they pointed their gun at him (Allegation G: Discourtesy- Word, § 87(2)(g)). § 87(2)(b) allegedly got down onto the floor and laid on his stomach with his arms up, after which multiple officers allegedly pushed § 87(2)(b) all over his arms for a few seconds. (Allegation H: Force-Physical Force, § 87(2)(g)). An officer then allegedly pressed on the back of § 87(2)(b) neck for a couple seconds, which somewhat restricted his breathing (Allegation I: Force- Restricted Breathing, § 87(2)(g)). One officer cuffed § 87(2)(b) and took him out to the apartment. Once outside, § 87(2)(b) allegedly requested medical attention from officers, but no officer provided it for him (Allegation J: Abuse of Authority- Refusal to Provide Medical Attention, § 87(2)(g)). § 87(2)(b) was arrested for § 87(2)(b).

21 BWC videos from 120th Precinct officers were obtained that did not capture § 87(2)(b) apprehension. The Warrant Squad was not equipped with BWC at the time of the incident. The investigation also obtained a video § 87(2)(b) posted on Facebook Live that showed § 87(2)(b) in handcuffs (Board Review #01).

#§ 87(2)(b)

Detectives Diaz and Corporan testified that they, along with Detective Barreiro, canvassed at § 87(2)(b) on the morning of July 16, 2019 looking for § 87(2)(b) and his brother, § 87(2)(b) who both had active warrants out for their arrests. The detectives received information that the brothers could be in § 87(2)(b) so they visited that apartment at about 5:30 a.m. § 87(2)(e), § 87(2)(f)

detectives left § 87(2)(b) and walked around the complex. § 87(2)(e), § 87(2)(f)

Detective Corporan also testified that at some point, he saw the § 87(2)(b) brothers walking around the complex, after which they split up and ran in different directions. Though Detective Diaz was not certain that those individuals were the § 87(2)(b) brothers, he described observing a similar situation and that he may have gone over the radio to notify other officers of a foot pursuit with a potential firearm involved. This pursuit is likely addressed in EVENT # § 87(2)(b) which numerous officers from the 120th Precinct responded to (Board Review #04).

§ 87(2)(e), § 87(2)(f)

§ 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(b) told the officers § 87(2)(b) was inside with her grandson and that they could go inside. She then opened the door for them and they entered. While Detective Diaz testified that § 87(2)(b) came outside the apartment to be cuffed, after which the detectives entered the apartment to find § 87(2)(b) Detective Corporan, § 87(2)(b) and § 87(2)(b) himself all testified that the detectives went in immediately without trying to coax § 87(2)(b) outside and cuffed both § 87(2)(b) and § 87(2)(b) while inside the apartment. Detective Diaz testified that he pointed his gun in front of him toward the back room, “in the direction of the threat,” while he said, § 87(2)(b) let me see your hands, let me see your hands.” He believed § 87(2)(b) had a firearm and was a threat because § 87(2)(f) and the fact that he was not complying in showing his hands or exiting the bedroom. Detective Diaz testified that he holstered his gun once § 87(2)(b) exited the bedroom, after which an officer cuffed him. He did not know whether Detectives Corporan and Barreiro pointed their guns, nor could Detective Corporan remember that. § 87(2)(b) testified that all the officers he saw in the bedroom pointed their guns at him before they cuffed him. Lieutenant Levenstein testified during his interview that he never went inside § 87(2)(b) and that the only time he saw § 87(2)(b) was from 15 to 20 feet away after he was cuffed; § 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(b) alleged that while one officer pointed his gun at him, they said, “Get on the fucking floor.” He got down onto the floor and laid on his stomach with his arms up, after which multiple officers pushed him all over his arms for a few seconds. An officer then pressed on the back of § 87(2)(b) neck for a couple seconds, which somewhat restricted his breathing. Detectives Corporan and Diaz both testified that one of them cuffed § 87(2)(b) while he was standing, and no force was used to do so. They also both testified that § 87(2)(b) was never on the floor and that no officer touched the back of § 87(2)(b) s neck. § 87(2)(b) also testified that § 87(2)(b) and § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) were cuffed standing up and that the officers did not seem to have any trouble apprehending them. Detectives Corporan and Diaz both denied saying, “get on the fucking floor,” and § 87(2)(b) did not hear any officer say “get on the fucking floor” or use any other profanity.

§ 87(2)(b) alleged in her initial complaint that before placing § 87(2)(b) in the police vehicle, officers “beat him up.” § 87(2)(b) himself testified that no officers made physical contact with him outside. § 87(2)(b) also alleged that § 87(2)(b) requested medical attention from officers, but no officer provided it for him; § 87(2)(b) testified that he was not injured during the incident. The Facebook Live video from § 87(2)(b) shows § 87(2)(b) appearing to walk normally and without any injuries (Board Review #01). Detective Corporan testified that § 87(2)(b) did not sustain any injuries and did not complain about pain, and Detective Diaz testified that § 87(2)(b) never requested medical attention. The available BWC footage from 120th Precinct officers does not show § 87(2)(b) apprehension, nor does it show him clearly after he was cuffed.

New York courts have ruled that officers may enter premises without a warrant if clear and informed consent to enter is given. In People v. Satornino, 153 A.D.2d 595 [1989], officers were justified in entering an apartment after the defendant’s mother told officers her son was inside, opened the door for the officers, and pointed to the bedroom that her son was staying in (Board Review #05). Patrol Guide Procedure 221-01 allows officers to use the minimum amount of force necessary to take an individual into custody and to protect human life (Board Review #06). The factors that determine reasonability include the actions taken by the subject, the immediacy of the perceived threat, and the subject’s violent history. This procedure also notes that an officer’s decision to draw or display a firearm must be based on articulable belief that a potential threat of serious physical injury is imminent. The officer must secure his gun once the threat no longer exists.
