REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

The above-named member of the Department appeared before me on June 15, 2026.

Respondent, through his counsel, entered a plea of Guilty to the subject charges and testified in mitigation of the penalty. In addition, Respondent called Inspector Craig Edelman, Lieutenant Christopher Siani, Sergeant James Haley and Assistant District Attorney Daniel Stern as witnesses. A stenographic transcript of the trial record has been prepared and is available for the Police Commissioner's review. Having evaluated all of the evidence presented at the mitigation hearing, and in accordance with his plea, I find Respondent Guilty of all three specifications. I further recommend a penalty of Forced Separation from the Department.

SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE IN MITIGATION

As Respondent pled Guilty, there is no factual dispute as to the misconduct set forth in the charges. On March 29, 2022, there was a shooting at the intersection of West 25th Street and Mermaid Avenue in Brooklyn. There were four subjects identified, three of whom were arrested. One of the individuals arrested was J.D.¹ The Kings County District Attorney's Office ("KCDA") began investigating this case in February of 2023. A search warrant affidavit was sworn and attested to by Respondent's partner, Detective Tomas Krohn, and ultimately signed by a judge on March 29, 2023. The search warrant was then executed on March 30, 2023.

Prior to the execution of the search warrant, there were communications between Respondent and the assigned Assistant District Attorney ("ADA"), Daniel Stern, confirming the identification procedures that were conducted of the three individuals who were subsequently arrested. Respondent specifically informed ADA Stern that Detective Michael Murphy "positively identified" J.D. from having dealt with him in the past. However, that communication between Detective Murphy and Respondent did not take place prior to the warrant being issued. In fact, Detective Murphy told ADA Stern that he was first asked to identify the subject after the search warrant was obtained. Moreover, there was e-mail correspondence from Respondent to Detective Murphy dated March 31, 2023, the day after the search warrant was executed, with an attached photo saying "do you know this guy, can you ID this guy?" referring to J.D.

Fortunately, Detective Murphy was able to rehabilitate the identification procedure of J.D. in the Grand Jury. However, the items recovered pursuant to that search warrant application were suppressed due to Respondent's misrepresentation of the information to his colleague and ADA Stern. Respondent knew that Detective Murphy had not yet identified J.D. when he told ADA Stern and Detective Krohn that he had in fact done so. (Tr. 13-14)

Respondent testified that he has been employed by the Department for 18 ½ years and spent the last 5 years as a detective in the Gun Violence Suppression Division ("GVSD"). During his time in GVSD, Respondent worked with Detective Krohn on a case concerning a gang called the "[REDACTED]". While assisting another detective on that case, Respondent and Detective Krohn began developing their own case regarding other crews known as the "[REDACTED]" and "[REDACTED]". In 2022, due to a surge in shootings, the KCDA tasked Respondent and Detective Krohn with building a case against the gangs on whom they had been gathering intelligence. (Tr. 49-50, 59)

According to Respondent's testimony, in December 2022, ballistics evidence linked a Memorial Day 2022 shooting to a later homicide. Investigators on that case focused on J.D., who is well-known in the neighborhood, as a suspect. Respondent claimed he verified J.D.'s identity through his local precinct and intelligence detectives, specifically Detectives Shulman and Vidal. Respondent affirmed that he relied on the general information provided to him by Detectives Shulman and Vidal as the basis for his belief that J.D. was identified the correct subject for the search warrant that was presented to Judge Susan Quirk by Detective Krohn. Respondent attested that the warrant was executed, and J.D. was arrested, indicted, pled guilty, and sentenced. As far as Respondent was concerned, J.D.'s conviction has faced no civil or criminal challenges. (Tr. 50-55)

However, when questioned further about the information Detective Schulman provided, Respondent acknowledged that KCDA required the personal collection of pedigree information from a suspect in order to obtain a search warrant. In short, Respondent knew that the information he had from Detective Shulman was insufficient to satisfy the legal standard required for an identification. At trial Respondent stated:

[J. D.] was well-known in the neighborhood. The intelligence officer, the detective squad, everybody knew who he was. The unfortunate fact is when dealing with KCDA's office and Violent Crime Enterprises, what they consider to be an ID. The word identification is to have personally collected pedigree information from those individuals. So, when you say identification and when I say identification, we know who certain people are. Unfortunately, you cannot testify in court to that unless you gathered pedigree information from those individuals personally. (Tr. 61)

According to Respondent, this was the reason that either Detective Schulman or Vidal suggested that he contact Detective Murphy. Since neither of them had J.D.'s pedigree information, they could not provide the identification necessary, by KCDA's standards, to procure a warrant or testify in court. Respondent believed that because Detective Murphy had previously arrested J.D. and obtained his pedigree information, Detective Murphy could formally identify him in court. At issue was not a layman's definition of identification and even though Respondent knew that, he ignored KCDA's standard for identification and gave his partner false information to obtain the warrant. Respondent eventually emailed Detective Murphy, but he acknowledged that he did not do so until after the search warrant had already been issued. (Tr. 60-63)

Respondent admitted to the three specifications filed against him. He explicitly stated he is not challenging, disputing, or controverting them, and took responsibility for misconduct. Respondent maintained, however, that he did not "intentionally" make materially false statements to Detective Krohn or ADA Stern. Respondent claimed that he has continued to testify for the Kings County District Attorney's Office in gang cases as recently as March of this year. He also expressed a strong desire to remain a productive member of the NYPD and continue combating gang violence until retirement. (Tr. 56-59)

Respondent presented several character witnesses to testify on his behalf in mitigation of the penalty.

Inspector Craig Edelman, a 23-year veteran of the Department, testified that he has served in various roles and precincts throughout his career. He currently serves as the Commanding Officer of the GVSD. Inspector Edelman explained that this division targets the most violent gang members and “community disrupters” across the five boroughs. While acknowledging that all police work is inherently dangerous, Inspector Edelman emphasized that the detectives in this division play a vital role in making the city safer. (Tr. 17-18)

Inspector Edelman testified that he has known and supervised Respondent within the unit for approximately six years. Despite not directly supervising Respondent on a day-to-day basis, Inspector Edelman attested to Respondent's high standing within the close-knit division. Inspector Edelman stated he has never heard anything negative regarding Respondent's truthfulness. He concluded that Respondent possesses a “stellar reputation” for “honesty” and “integrity,” as evidenced by how his peers rally around him. (Tr. 18-19)

Lieutenant Christopher Siani is a lieutenant in the GVSD, where he supervised Respondent professionally for approximately five and a half years. Lieutenant Siani stated that he has discussed Respondent's reputation with others and that Respondent is “one of the most respected detectives” within unit. He further added that in his opinion Respondent “doesn't have a dishonest bone in his body.” (Tr. 24, 26-27)

Sergeant James Haley testified that he has been with the Department for approximately sixteen years and currently serves as a sergeant and supervisor within the GVSD. He has known

Respondent for approximately three and a half years and is his direct supervisor. Sergeant Haley attested that within GVSD, Respondent is known as an exceptional investigator with the "utmost integrity" and is considered "one of the most stand-up guys in the unit." Sergeant Haley avowed that he personally considers Respondent to be a "close friend," noting that he trusts him implicitly and does not believe Respondent has ever lied to him or has any such expectation of him. (Tr. 29-31)

Assistant District Attorney Daniel Stern is currently employed as a senior ADA in the Violent Enterprises Bureau in the Kings County District Attorney's Office. In this role, he handles long-term investigations and frequently collaborates with the GVSD. Mr. Stern testified that he met Respondent during his professional duties with the GVSD. Based on his discussions with other law enforcement officers in the unit and within his office, Mr. Stern testified that Respondent has a "very good reputation." (Tr. 37 -38)

Mr. Stern testified that he is aware that departmental charges were filed against Respondent regarding the identification of J.D. He explained that the underlying case involved J.D., who acted as a lookout for a violent street gang on Mermaid Avenue in Coney Island. A search warrant was issued by Judge Susan Quirk, with Detective Tomas Krohn serving as the affiant. Mr. Stern confirmed that Respondent provided uncorroborated identification information for the affidavit, but he did not personally appear before the judge for this warrant application. He added that the warrant was executed, the subject was arrested, indicted, and ultimately pled guilty to a class E felony and received probation. Mr. Stern affirmed that J.D. did not challenge the case in criminal or civil court. Mr. Stern concluded his testimony by asserting that despite the pending departmental charges against Respondent, he has continued to testify as a witness before the Grand Jury on behalf of the Kings County District Attorney's Office. (Tr. 39-42)

PENALTY

In order to determine an appropriate penalty, this tribunal, guided by the Department's Disciplinary System Penalty Guidelines ("Disciplinary Matrix"), considered all relevant facts and circumstances, including potential aggravating and mitigating factors established in the record. Respondent's employment history was also examined. See 38 RCNY § 15-07.

Information from his personnel record that was considered in making this penalty recommendation is contained in an attached memorandum.

Respondent, who was appointed to the Department on January 7, 2008, has pled guilty to, and accordingly has been found Guilty of all three Specifications. The Department Advocate recommends that Respondent's employment be terminated, arguing that Respondent's misconduct has severely tainted his credibility, thus making his continued employment with the Department untenable. This is consistent with the Disciplinary Guidelines' presumptive penalty for intentionally making a false official statement.

Police officers hold a vital position of public trust and must be held to the highest standards of honesty and integrity. The Disciplinary Guidelines state that "the justice system relies on members of the service to provide truthful and accurate information in a wide variety of contexts and circumstances." Here, Respondent violated the public's trust in that system when he made misrepresentations during a criminal investigation both to an ADA and to his partner, who then relied on that information and swore out an affidavit before a judge. The public's trust in the Department is severely undermined by false statements such as these, and separation from the Department is therefore warranted here.

However, the Disciplinary Guidelines also provide for a mitigated penalty of Forced Separation where appropriate. Based on the totality of the circumstances in this case, the mitigated penalty is reasonable.

Respondent claimed that he did not intend to provide false information to his partner or the ADA, but that he was relying on the fact the J.D. was so “well-known” in the neighborhood and the assessment by local law enforcement officials that his identification would not be at issue. While Respondent’s explanation regarding what the Kings County District Attorney’s Office considers a sufficient identification for court purposes versus what he considers to be sufficient identification was unpersuasive, especially given his level of experience, it does not appear that his actions were nefarious. This Tribunal believes that Respondent was cutting corners in a lengthy investigation to expedite the desired result-- essentially, putting the proverbial cart before the horse. Although this was not a situation where the false information given by Respondent led to the arrest of an innocent individual, it nonetheless calls into question his credibility and threatens the integrity of the Department to uphold the rule of law.

On the other hand, Respondent has been with the Department for over 18 years and during that span of time, he has made 312 arrests (111 felonies, 187 misdemeanors, 14 violations), received roughly 30 medals for Excellent/Meritorious Police Duty, three Unit citations, and one Commendation. He has also been an esteemed member of the GVSD for the past five years. Several of Respondent’s superiors in the unit appeared to testify on his behalf and hold him in high regard. It is also worth noting that ADA Stern testified that despite the pending departmental charges against Respondent, he has continued to testify as a witness before the Grand Jury on behalf of KCDA.

On the witness stand, Respondent emphasized how much he values working for the Department. He came across as genuine when he testified and accepted responsibility for his actions. It also appeared that Respondent recognized that his lapse in judgment was serious and will have significant repercussions on his career.

The Department always expects truthfulness and professionalism from its members. A member of the service with Respondent's experience is expected to understand that and act accordingly. The testimony of Respondent's supervisors provides meaningful context to assess Respondent's behavior here because it demonstrates that perhaps this was an aberration, and that, combined with his strong record of service with the Department, warrants imposition of the mitigated penalty of Forced Separation, in lieu of termination. Accordingly, I recommend that the Police Commissioner direct an immediate post-trial settlement negotiation, allowing Respondent to file for vested-interest retirement, along with whatever additional conditions she may deem appropriate.
